McKay: Move to approve.

Seconded by French.

McKay: I stated student account funding was not taken out of the mass funding for RSOs and it is indeed taken out of mass funding so I would like to add that in there.

Seconded by Goldstein.

Vanata: I’d like to add a note to Kiah Abbey’s report. Panhellenic will not be participating in or supporting the workshop on how to throw a better party.

Seconded McKay.

Townshend: Minutes from January 24th stand as passed with the addition of those two notes.

  o Auxiliary Services- SUB Ballroom Renovation
    ▪ Tom Stump, Butch Damberger, Duane Morris

Stump: Thanks for hearing us tonight. Our Vice President and Duane were unavailable this evening. This project completes the last major component of the Major Facilities Enhancement Project which started in 2004. It does not increase student fees and it is supported by President Cruzado. SUB is the living room to our campus. It is a huge draw for alumni, important because prospective students and parents see it. With the exception of painting walls, we have not done work in the SUB since 1981. Four components of Student Facilities Project: create Black Box Theatre, renovation of fitness center, addition of Recruitment and New Student Services to the SUB, major components of SUB focused mostly on cafeteria, dining, and a permanent location for SRO. We have grown so we are actually collecting more funds from students. We’re comfortable that we have enough money and could probably borrow some to pay for this renovation. We want to work on flooring, lighting, HVAC, partitioning, storage options for new chairs, new chairs, interior design enhancements to make it beautiful. We will pay for this with some excess fees collected from the Student Facilities Project. Butch is putting in $250,000 of his funds, and we’ll get about a million dollars. We want a loan not to exceed ten years and we’ve looked at interest rates around 1.25% which is very attractive. We’ll pay for the renovations with the excess funds being generated by having additional students. That’s our proposal.

Stiles: Thank you for putting this together. The SUB Ballrooms are very outdated and I think this is a very important upgrade and let’s go forward full speed.

French: I appreciate all of the work you have put into this. Is the electrical circuitry going to be updated or expanded with this?

Damberger: We will add more floor outlets, because we don’t have enough for career fairs and such. And we will add more circuits.

- DegreeWorks—Judi Haskins & Tony Campo

Campo: Judi is going to give you a presentation but what we’re looking for from you is how to best share this new software with your peers across campus.

Haskins: I’m the advising representative on the DegreeWorks implementation team. I’ve been working on this since last January. It’s our new degree auditing software. Faculty and staff have had access since October 1st and we’ve been working out some kinks, testing it. It’s accessible from myInfo. Unlike a transcript, this shows your audit or worksheet in block format. The first block is summary information. The second block is called the Degree Block. This tracks progress toward MSU’s degree requirements. It tells you about CORE, GPA requirement, degree requirements, etc. It tracks how many credits you have acquired, things like that. Next is the CORE block. This tracks your progress toward CORE. Notice how transfer credits appear and pull into CORE, same with AP courses. The next block is a student’s major. They will be in succession if there are multiple majors. Blue line means currently enrolled. Unfulfilled requirements show empty square and lists courses you need to take to fulfill the requirement. Some majors have electives built in. If there is more than one course option, all of them will be listed there. It tracks your academic progress every step of the way. We can hover over courses still needed and click on them. It will have the course description, prerequisites, and times/days it is offered in the upcoming semester. It’s a great tool for course planning. Below the Major/Minor blocks, there are electives. This is anything that is a D or higher that can count toward your degree but not your major or CORE. Beneath this are your current courses. We will have exception managers to move things around a bit with transfer credits or things like that. The advisor has the ability to add in notes as well. The other tab is GPA calculation. This is handy for a student who is on probation or suspension warning. It’s a tool to see how getting a certain grade will affect a student’s GPA. The internet is slow, so we can’t see that right now. Another neat tool is a What If? scenario. This will repopulate all of your courses and progress toward your new major and will tell you how much you have left and help you decide whether or not you want to switch. The What If? option appears on the left hand side of the screen.

French: Professional electives, how would those work? I’m looking at a 500 level class and there’s no reason it wouldn’t count for a professional elective but what process would students have to go through to get that? How will this affect or change group advising?

Haskins: You would just need to talk to your advisor and if they approve it, they will physically go in and make an exception. It doesn’t work well for group advising. What you can do is do that in a computer lab and have each student pull open their page and ask questions. It is more of an individual tool. An upcoming function is Plans where you can see your audit on the left and a Plans function on the right. On the right, you will have some empty boxes for a semester plan. You can plan one semester or multiple semesters at a time! It is a maneuverable planning worksheet. You’ll have to click on the course and see if it’s offered that semester but you’ll be able to make that plan.

Lamm: I wanted to thank you so much for all of your work. I’ve been working with the AAC and they’ve been working so hard on this program. This has been a long time coming. We’re really excited to roll that out to students. I think it will help students graduate faster and plan out their college careers.

Haskins: Later functions will also show up down the line but Plans is the one we will have next.

Vanata: Thank you for coming tonight. How are you going about communicating with departments with course catalog issues and making sure their curriculums are accurate?

Haskins: We’ve been working closely with the departments. This will be the Bible for your degree process. The departments will have to let us know if there are changes.

Campo: We found several issues of catalog versus what the departments really do so this should be what is really done. The new catalog should reflect any changes and we should be able to keep up with that.

Vanata: In the case where you can take a class a few times (like Field Practicum for Psychology), how would you make that work?

Haskins: There is a process behind the scenes called scribing. They program in every type of requirement the program requires. As we continue to find kinks, we will work through them and make sure the programs are communicating with our departments to keep them up to date.

Vanata: Will advisors be trained? Will departments be trained? How will we move into that?

Haskins: We’ve had it live for faculty and staff since October 1. There’s a video for them to view to learn how to use it, but it is going to take more time for all faculty to be on board. Many advisors have started using it solely since October 1. We’re anticipating that you as students will be educating faculty and staff and talking to them if you have issues.

Vanata: You mentioned kinks. Where should we direct students if they have problems?

Haskins: Their advisor. Before March 1, we will send out another campus-wide email to let them know students will be gaining access. It will be the method to graduate students and, at some Vanata: Have we seen universities with this system have a 4 year graduation rate increase?

Haskins: I am not sure. Thousands of universities use it, and I used it at another university in the 90s so it's been around. I don’t know of any statistics but it definitely helps students plan their degrees more efficiently.

Campo: There are some stats saying that but they load it with caveats because never is this the exclusive graduate rate lowering effort on a campus.

Haskins: You will still have to see your advisor for your PIN and we will still have the Office of Student Success.

Thuringer: MSU doesn’t always keep updated with software like this because you have to pay for updates. Is DegreeWorks going to be different?

Campo: There is a service agreement. We pay them a significant amount of money each year and that gives us those updates automatically.

Townshend: We’ll let you know if we have any further questions and we will think of ideas on how to get this out to the students and get back to you.

Townshend: Senator Goldstein, I’m going to ask you to please put your iPad away.

Reid: I move to have the Senate appointments now.

Seconded by Smith.

Reading of last week’s questions.

Townshend: Any additions or changes you’d like to make to the questions?

Questions for Senate Applicants:

Rowe: What qualities do you feel a successful Senator should have and how do you embody those qualities?

McKay: What is your knowledge of ASMSU and what ASMSU program are you most excited to work with?
Vanata: What changes or improvements do you think need to be addressed in the MSU community and how do you think you can accomplish that in this body?

Thuringer: What’s your experience with budgeting? If you have no previous experience, how you would you go about learning the process?

First Candidate: Ben Lynn

Hi. I’m Ben Lynn from Clyde Park, MT. I’m a senior in the College of Ag. I’ve been a part of a few major offices and clubs on campus. I have learned how to facilitate committees to get jobs done and how to organize fundraising events. I would promote the land-grant university because that’s what MSU was founded on. I’d let College of Ag students know about other opportunities on campus. Most College of Ag students are in 2 or 3 clubs, and I’d like to let them know about other clubs on campus.

Rowe’s question.

Listen to the people they’re representing. For me, I listen pretty well. I’m quiet but I get along with everybody and I like to listen to what everybody has to say. I like to hear both sides, pros and cons.

McKay’s questions.

I know you are the student body leadership on campus. You do entertainment and learning opportunities to help students succeed. I’m excited to work with all of them. I’d probably like to work with entertainment to see who we can get to campus to have fun because that’s a major part of college.

Vanata’s question.

Recently I gave a team talk on the parking issue here on campus and I talked to Kiah about it and I got the matrix you came up with. Through meeting with different organizations, I’d work to get input about a best option. It would be a good thing and to meet with faculty and staff and architects and other people for planning.

Thuringer’s question.

I am unfamiliar with the budgeting process. I would sit in at the meetings to learn how it works: where the money’s coming from, how it’s being used, how we could increase funds and decrease spending or spend it differently.

Thank you for having me. I also left out that I’m a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and learned public speaking and have really opened up to people through that. Thank you.
Second Candidate: Michaela O’Donoghue

Hi. I’m a sophomore studying environmental biology. Thanks for your time this evening. ASMSU is a really important part of the student body. I’d be honored to work with people who are motivated and like-minded. I’m very well-rounded. I’m connected with a lot of people in the Land Resources and Environmental Science side of the college of Ag and I’ve connected with a lot of people through clubs, activities, and classes. Beyond that, as an Ag Ambassador, I’ve made connections with people on the more traditional side of agriculture so I could represent the college as a whole.

Rowe’s question.

A Senator needs to be a really good communicator, open to the ideas of peers, and work well with Senate team. I’m not afraid to speak my voice but I’m also good at listening to others. Being empathetic and willing to understand diversity of opinions is very important. A Senator must also be diplomatic about working out those issues and having good communication between people who disagree.

McKay’s question.

I know ASMSU runs a lot of programs and is involved in a lot on this campus. Outdoor Rec, Pro, Sustainability. I’ve done a lot of work with the Office of Sustainability and I’m excited to continue that. I would also like to work with the outdoor rec center.

Vanata’s question.

I think one of the big issues I see on campus is the disconnect between people working toward the same goal. A lot of groups have similar ideas and passions but they’re separated for no reasons. As a Senator, I’d have access to good resources to connect people. I could start conversations, and help make a bigger group working for same goal.

Thuringer’s question.

I have sat on two budgeting committees before for nonprofits. I sat on one for a summer camp where we had to reevaluate our entire budget. I was involved in the decision making. I was also on a budgeting committee for a nonprofit dance community. I was doing more data entry, making sure everything added up, and it was a multiple month process.

I would be willing to meet with people who’ve working on your budgeting before, and would learn as much as possible so I can be as helpful as I can.

Thanks so much for your time. I’m excited about this opportunity. This is a really incredible organization and I embody a lot of what you are working toward. I have good communication skills, I’m passionate, and I would represent the College of Ag as a whole. I would be proud to Second Candidate: Kipling Peterson

I’m Kipling Peterson. I’m a Pre-Vet student from Sandpoint, Idaho. I’m applying to be the Senator for the College of Ag. My dad and grandfather are both vets, I spent my summers with 4H and working on a farm. I have a unique set of skills that would qualify me for this position. One of the main things I want to do is increase the number of unpaid internships between the students and community of Bozeman. I think the people in this town are a largely untapped asset. I would do that through the Internship floor downstairs. We could revamp that and create some additional programs to further that goal.

Rowe’s question.

Strong interpersonal skills, the ability to interact with the student body, and being available and approachable for them. I have lots of experience with customer service, grew up running a bed and breakfast. Need to have a strong moral character.

McKay’s question.

I know you work with the internship floor downstairs. It seems like a very influential student body. I’ve known Lindsey, known some Senators.

Vanata’s question.

I think the Bozeman community has something to offer the student body and to connect the students with those who have the knowledge is my goal. I think that’s largely untapped here.

Thuringer’s question.

I was RHA president. We had a budget for the hall. Outside of that, not much. I’m not sure how to approach that question.

Repeat question.

I am vaguely familiar with the process. I would pick up quickly between other Senators and my own research.

I’ve had extensive experience with production agriculture and that industry. I feel through my job and life experiences that I am qualified for the positions. My public speaking may not be up to par, but I can work on that. If given the opportunity, I can make you guys proud.
Discussion on Candidates:

Howard: Mike, if there’s another marker up there, would you remind rewriting that?

Townshend: There isn’t. Their names are in your packet.

Lamm: I was really impressed with O’Donoghue. She seems to have a wide range of experience within the college. Especially since we only have one rep for that college, it’s important to have someone that balances out the whole college. I wish Lynn wasn’t a senior because I was also impressed with him.

Thuringer: I think the candidates were all pretty good. I think O’Donoghue’s ability to speak to both sides of Ag is important. There’s a very clear divide sometimes and we want someone we is able to reconcile the two. I also know her personally. She follows through on her commitments and would be a great addition to body.

Howard: I like O’Donoghue. I’m a bit hesitant on her connections because it sounded like a lot of the things she was involved with would be the same people. I think there would be too much overlap for that to be a huge considering factor. I like that Lynn has been a part of the leadership of AGR.,. I haven’t met an Ag major that doesn’t go to AGR. It’s a pretty tight knit group so that’s a plus for him. Odon was very well spoken, which is a crucial asset in this body.

French: I liked Lynn and O’Donoghue. It’s a shame he’s a senior and that he won’t have the opportunity to continue on with Senate. For that reason, I would go with O’Donoghue.

Vanata: Echo positive comments of O’Donoghue. She is a very well-rounded candidate. As an Ag Ambassador, she has to be knowledgeable about the Ag Department. She also mentioned collaborative efforts outside of the MSU community which was great. She has budgeting experience and gave us a good foundation for what she could provide this body.

Townshend: We will move into a dump-truck vote.

Explanation of Dump Truck Vote for new Senators.

Vote:

O’Donoghue: 15

Lynn: 4

Townshend: Thank you for applying, you are all wonderful candidates. I’d like to welcome Michaela O’Donoghue to this position. Congratulations.

Murdock performed swearing in.

- Unfinished Business
  - 2013-R-4 Support for Creation of IT Committee (TABLED)
Stephen Rowe, John Stiles

Rowe: Move to remove 2012-R-4 from table.

Seconded by French.

Vote: 19/0/0. One abstention.

Rowe: I’d like a motion to amend the document by replacing it with proposed document.

Seconded by McKay.

Rowe: The proposed amendment is replacing committee with forum so it is available to everyone and it will now meet quarterly which is twice a semester.

McKay: I want to say thank you to the sponsors of this resolution for listening to the concerns of this body and following through with it. I’m excited about this and thank you.

Oak: How does this forum differ from the IT town hall meetings?

Reid: IT Town Hall meetings are generally not very well attended. This is for students and IT department to connect with each other rather than IT just connecting and seeking input when they feel it is necessary.

Townshend: We will now vote on the amendment for replacement.

19/0/0. One abstention.

Townshend: We will now vote on the resolution.

Vote: 18/0/0. Two abstentions.

Townshend: Resolution passes.

- 2013-R-5 Opposition of SB109 – (UPDATE SB109 Failed on 1/30/2013)
  - Michael Townshend, Erica McKay

Townshend: Passage of this resolution won’t make an immediate difference. My recommendation would be to leave this on the table. These is no reason to bring it up unless someone would like to.

- New Business
  - Confirmation of New Campus Entertainment Director, Michael Bonde

Murdock: He just left. He had to take some malaria pills or something. If anyone has direct questions, we can maybe move that to later or I can talk about him now.

Stiles: I would like to move this to later; I know I have a few questions.
Townshend: I would accept a motion to change the order of the agenda.

Schaff: Move to delay confirmation toward the end of meeting.

Seconded by Thuringer.

- 2013-R-6 Support for Spirit of the West Marching Band
  - Lukas Smith, Cara Thuringer, Gianna Vanata

First reading of 2013-R-6.

- 2013-R-7 Support for SUB Ballroom Renovations
  - Michael Townshend, Erica McKay

First reading of 2013-R-7.

- Confirmation of changes to Funding Requests
  - 2013-FUNDING-6 Lockers
  - 2013-FUNDING-7 Gym Renovations
  - Reserve Supplemental

McKay: You saw some requests from Finance Board pertaining to the Club lockers and painting the gym floor. When they came to us, those were reserve requests. A mistake was made while the transactions were going through and they were pulled from the supplemental fund rather than the reserve. We discussed and decided that is okay because it’s not our building. Usually reserve requests are for ASMSU and are for capital requests. The club lockers aren’t ours as well so we saw them more as a sponsorship. Finance Board unanimously voted for it to be a supplemental. We’re looking to confirm that with the Senate.

Reid: Move to approve.

Seconded by Rowe.

Vote: 19/0/0. One abstention.

Townshend: The Funding Request Supplemental has been confirmed as okay. Mr. Bonde is still not here. We will move into Admin Reports. President Abbey is not here because she is at the Exec Council retreat.

- Admin Reports
  - Vice-President: Lindsey Murdock

Murdock: Sorry Michael is running late. That’s all my fault because I forgot to tell him he had to be here today. I don’t know how many of you saw the staff members from facilities getting input from students for the Romney Oval Project. They are trying to make the oval more of a quad type area. They will be in the Union Market again from 2-4 tomorrow. You may want to put a million slacklines there for students to walk on, and amphitheater, or nothing. They are looking for ideas right now so the sky is the limit. They will be there tomorrow from 2-4 out front of Union Market. Update: We met yesterday and we’re hoping to roll out RFP next week after it goes through the Space Management Committee and Admin. Good Husband concert tonight. Support the CE team; they worked hard and they’re excited. The Exit Gallery Opening ends at 7 and they will be having an open house on the 8th to show off the renovations. MAS got a new website. You can look through past newsletters at MUS.ed/mas. The student regent app link is also on there. We are going to do the polar bear plunge, Feb 18th. No class that day. 4 people on team already, going to be a lot of fun. Interested in that let me know, I will sign you up. Thanks for everyone who went to open house last night. I heard it was very open and welcoming.

Schaff: I went through the Student Involvement Fair and talked with OAE and we’re all chickens if all 21 of us aren’t there so I’d like to prove them wrong.

Murdock: My quote is on my phone!

Townshend: This is an example of what not to do during a Senate meeting.

Murdock: I was searching for it during class.

Townshend: And what not to do during class.

Murdock: Sometimes I am an example of what not to do.

“Good discipline does not just happen, it is the result of carefully planned and consistently implemented behaviors.”

- Confirmation of Michael Bonde

Stiles: I’d like to hear from the nominating board first.

Murdock: This is Michael Bonde, our new CE Director. We had about a dozen pretty qualified applicants, interviewed 6, and chose Mike. He has a great attitude, will work well with team already implemented, and will pick up right in the middle of things. He is a great candidate to work with the team and carry out all that is already planned.

Stiles: What qualities do you think you posses that will provide for a seamless transition?

Bonde: I apologize for how I am dressed. I just ran here. I am a go-to get it done kind of person. As far as seamlessly fitting in with existing group, I spent a bunch of time with them tonight to find out how they work, etc. and I think the key I bring is I’m willing to step down and morph in before I take the role and say this is what needs to change and needs to be done.

Stiles: Do you have a productions or promotions background? What do you hope to change as director?
Bonde: Lots of involvement. Blue & Gold Committee would probably be my best example of performance. I was the Music Chair last year and that was starting from scratch and built it up where it is now and handed it off to someone new. VP of Blue & Gold Committee, overseeing everyday operations, making sure work gets done. Marketing, performance, those things where they can be most effective.

Stiles: Largest accomplishment of CE in past year?

Bonde: I’m going to have to say, I was greatly surprised at the amount of bands and groups we’ve been able to get in. And not just that the groups have come but that they’re free to students. I had a long conversation with Gabe about that tonight. I thought that was different but I think it’s something I’d like to see continued. Campus is where students belong, and they shouldn’t have to pay extra to see something they already paid for. We want to get people more active, get people out there, and make college a worthwhile experience.

Mains: What fun ideas you have and what you hope to bring to CE in your time?

Bonde: I am just getting in, so I need to see where things are and then maybe later on on morph into a new thing. One thing I’d really like to see is every single meeting will be documented, minutes, plan, due dates. I want to keep people accountable, but mostly to keep records. Then people in this position will have something to go off of in the future. So I’d like to see that change. As far as entertainment goes, I’d like to send out a survey hopefully to see what the students would like to see. There is always a difference between what they want and what we can afford and I’d like to find middle ground.

Confirmation vote: confirmed!

Senators Stiles, O'Donoghue abstained.

Business Manager – Lauren Jackson

Jackson: I have no report. Talk to your program directors, find out their budgets.

Senate President – Michael Townshend

Townshend: Budgeting presentations will start next week. We will have 5 weeks of those presentations. Finalized that today. Still have regular presentations. If you need a refresher, please come talk to me. We’ll have a budgeting presentation early next week. What to look for, how to be effective. After spring break, do all budget work in 5 meetings and have it ready by April 18. So we’ll be busy when we get back from spring break. The more work we can do now the better this process will be. LI is doing their “Mending A Broken Congress” with Political Science on Wednesday, February 6th. Let me know if you’re interested. Do we have any Modern Languages majors? Internationalization Committee is looking for replacement from previous Senator Duker. Advisory to developing international programs here. 2-3 hours a month.
Goldstein: Yes.

Townshend: Put you down for that. Will ask for feedback on how tonight has gone. If you want to talk about it, have suggestions, come talk to me. I personally like it.

o Senate Vice President – Erica McKay

McKay: Welcome, Senator O’Donoghue. We’ll get in swing of things. Everyone is excited to have you here. Happy to help. Funding board is looking at mass funding. We’re getting that finalized in the next few weeks. Finance Board is trucking along. We’ll be reviewing those down to the penny. It’s Business Jackson, Higgins, myself, Finance Board members.

MSU Friday. Wear blue and gold. Wear name tags. Helpful when students can identify people who know their stuff. Nametag is promising, reach out to students. Most have applied, lots accepted, we want to get them here. Thanks for your attention and respect tonight. I’m enjoying this system. I miss my Ipad but it pushes all of us to be more prepared when we come into meetings and hold each other accountable. MSU Friday. Go cats! Townshend: naturally, forgot two things. Pics a lot of us took at last semester, going onto desktop backgrounds on campus. New senators: someone’s been in touch with you about getting photos take on Friday.

GO TO CONCERN. Really fun. Done in time!

Program directors love it.

· Senate Reports

Mulick: I went to the Lj meeting this week and it’s been really fun working with them. Lots of events coming up this semester. First: Schmitz. Everyone leads, building leadership from community up. First event they’re having a post follow up event for students who are inspired, mentor them wit your ideas. The American teacher: teacher in Bozeman. All really excited about this. Most excited: leadership summit: all allowed to go for free. Asked me to hand these out. Registration form. Due Feb 13th. Pass this along to a friend that you think would be interested if you don’t want to go. Bonfire, speakers, etc. want to go and do register, have to tell org how many people are coming so don’t respond and say you’ll go unless you’re actually going. Other students do have to pay.

Mains: can you pass posters around so we can see dates?

Vanata: Lamm and myself meeting with Diane Donnelly next week University Studies academic advising director. Advising to academic calendar. Ears peeled, talk to constituents, issues facing, things they’d like to change. Three of us want us to let Senate know. Feedback by next week. Curriculum and following catalog. Sometimes discrepancies. Departments can sometimes be unsure as well. Please check into that as well to help students out so they can graduate. Advising issues as well, let me know. Consider event. Stiles and Rowe already.
Thuringer: Romney oval, went to charrette. No budget attached. Covered bike rakes, amphitheaters, other ideas. Romney oval is oval shaped patch of grass. Please go to oval event and talk to them. They get excited, our campus have a say in what happens.

Mains: Goldstein, Rowe, and I went to meet with new Dean. Great. Really nice guy, open, have any questions. Need contact info let us know.

· Senate Announcements

Stiles: PO I have recency.

Stiles: Murdock or you. Noticing with the confirmation processes, Dress code of program directors. Disconnect, body should be business casual, hold our presenters to same standard.

Townshend: noted.

Vanata: Recognize Murdock.

Murdock: totally my fault. Agree we should gold them to that standard. I do apologize for that. You hold directors and myself an Kiah to same standards.

Vanata: Wear PJ’s to what I’m abut to talk about. Relay for Life Saturday 6pm goes all night. Beyond supporting a great cause, great opportunity to talk to constituents. What better way to talk to them about what’s going on at MSU. Lots of prizes, activities, games, giveaways, I’ll be there all night.

Mains: Tuesday: 10-? Study Abroad Fair. I’ll be there 10-12 talking about Switzerland, talk to constituents about where they want to travel.

Vantaa: SUB, not Brick Breeden thanks.

Thuringer: Move to adjourn.

Seconded by Reid.
