

CONSERVATION PHOTOGRAPHY: WHAT, WHY, AND HOW

Sebastian Kennerknecht

NATURE AND CONSERVATION PHOTOGRAPHER

Thursday, October 25 at 3:30pm
Lewis Hall 304

Sebastian Kennerknecht is a wildlife and conservation photographer who has over twelve years experience visually covering wildlife both locally and internationally, focusing in particular on endangered species and wild cats.

This includes having produced high quality photographs, time-lapses, videos, and web content which were featured in and by BBC Wildlife, GEO, The Economist, Science, The Guardian, Defenders of Wildlife, and Conservation International, among others.

