

HUMAN DIMENSIONS OF WILDLIFE IN MT: SOCIAL TOLERANCE, ATTITUDES, AND ACCEPTABILITY OF MANAGEMENT

Dr. Libby Metcalf & Dr. Alex Metcalf

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA

Thursday, November 8 at 3:30pm

Lewis Hall 304

Dr. Libby Metcalf is an Associate Professor of Recreation & Natural Resource Management in the W.A. Franke College of Forestry and Conservation at the University of Montana. Her research interests generally center around recreation management issues, wildlife related issues, and understanding complex social-ecological systems.

~~~~~

Dr. Alex Metcalf is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Society & Conservation in the W.A. Franke College of Forestry and Conservation at the University of Montana where he serves on the Resource Conservation, Wildlife Biology, and the interdisciplinary Systems Ecology faculties. His research focuses broadly on the human dimensions of natural resources, including private land conservation, human-wildlife coexistence, conservation analytics, and behavior change.

