1. What Was Done?
22 students sat and completed the nationally-administered PRAXIS exam, a standardized measure of educational leadership knowledge and competency, to meet their comprehensive requirement for the degree.

2. What Data Were Collected?
Pass rates were collected to assess the program. Twenty of 22 students passed the exam, leading to a 91% pass rate.

3. What Was Learned?
The faculty were pleased with students’ performance overall.

4. How We Responded?
The faculty continue to see the value in using a nationally-recognized standardized measure of content knowledge as a means of assessing students’ preparation to serve as an educational leader in K-12 schools. The nature of the tool allows the faculty to benchmark MSU graduates with a national sample.
