Formative assessments are evaluations used to improve learning and inform teaching rather than to assign a grade. The purpose of these assessments is to improve the quality of student learning rather than to provide evidence for grading students. At the end of this session, you will have in your teaching toolbox methods to help your students succeed in your class. This session has been presented at New Faculty Orientation the past several years with positive feedback and the February 2 session will give all faculty the opportunity to learn about these assessments.
