MERITORIOUS AWARD NOTICE
November 10, 2016

The Graduate School (GS) requests nominations for the Meritorious Award, to be awarded for Fall 2017. Specifically, $45K has been set aside to support these awards. The award disbursement amount will be $5K/award. The purpose of this award is to attract outstanding new graduate students and thus grow graduate student enrollment, which is in alignment with the university’s academic strategic plan. The Meritorious Award will be restricted to Ph.D. students with the majority of the awards (due to funding source restrictions) in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) disciplines. MECHANISM FOR DISTRIBUTION OF THE AWARD

• Nominating faculty can submit nominations from November 10, 2016 up to the end of March 2017 for Fall 2017 admission. The award is for new Ph.D. students in Fall 2017.

• Students do not have to formally apply to The Graduate School to be nominated for the award. However, if an award is made, the student must complete the application process, be fully admitted to MSU, and attend MSU Bozeman.

• In the event that the student has declined admission or has deferred to the spring term, the funding will return to the general pool. The Graduate School then may offer the award to an alternate nominee, who may or may not be an applicant in the same department.

• The award (a onetime payment) will be dispersed to the student’s account. These funds typically are available after the first week of classes in the fall 2017 term.
