STAFF COMMENTS:

- AJMJ 221 was presented to the Classroom Committee for consideration in seeking $60,000 from the 2012/2013 classroom renovation funds. The room is a flexible computer lab classroom supporting both open / available times with scheduled teaching.
- It was discussed in the Classroom Committee that this project was an ideal candidate to test out some of the concepts discussed as part of an Active Learning Classroom.
- The committee recommended endorsement to use $40,000 of the $1.5M of the reverted funds dedicated to registrar classroom renovations in 2012 and 2013 on this computer lab classroom. In addition funds from CFAC will also be pursued to supplement the balance of funding for specific equipment.

ITEM No. 5 – Recommendation – Towne’s Harvest Horticulture Barn

Joe Bleehash presented an overview of the proposed Towne’s Harvest Horticulture Barn. The site is located where the previous barn was across the street from the Miller Pavilion. Off street gravel parking will be provided off of Lincoln for the users. The primary use will be for Towne’s Harvest to set up their vegetable washing. That will occupy half of the building. The other half consists of three individual bays with overhead garage doors where multiple users can store equipment used on the farm. The vegetable cooler will be relocated to be inside the building. It is a pre-engineered pole type building with powder coated siding. There are two covered porches, one on the west side and one on the south side. The covered porches will act as weather barriers. There are three sliding doors; one on the west side, one on the south side and one on the north side. They are used as an open air market concept. Approximately 36’ x 80’ is the intended size for the building.

The structure was recommended by facilities architecture staff and at the same time was approached by faculty members in architecture about doing a design build. They didn’t anticipate the state statute that complicates the prospect of students being able to construct something on state land of that magnitude. State statute mandates that anything over $75,000 be competitively bid through an advertisement process. It became too complex, so they decided it wouldn’t work. The programming, however, was used. It is within 100 sq. ft. of what the student project was.

The barn is funded by the experiment station for all the users at the horticulture farm. It is a general use structure with a wash station specific to Towne’s Harvest. Field tools will also be stored there. There will be water and a French drain. Butler mentioned there might be problems with the city and county when it comes to permits. Butler also mentioned they have never had a French work out there because of the high water. Bleehash stated that there is an architect consultant on the project. The cost is about $150,000 and has CHE approval. Butler moved to approve the barn. Bristor seconded the Motion and it was unanimously approved with no opposes or abstentions.
Additional Items

Banziger gave notice that the College of Business programming sessions are next Wednesday and Thursday, February 22 and 23, 2012. There is a public forum on Wednesday at 4:30 pm in Reid Hall 103 and a second public forum at 3:00 pm on Thursday. They will be going over all items discussed and include site selection. They will try to narrow down the seven sites to two or three and will talk about classroom design and faculty spaces.

Banziger brought up that there are four committees to UFIPB: the Classroom Committee, Parking and Transportation Advisory Committee, Americans with Disabilities Act Facilities Advisory Committee, and Public Art Committee. UFIPB hasn’t asked for annual updates and the question came up whether there needs to be an annual meeting and report.

Butler questioned if UFIPB has determined a process for using the Academic R&R funds. He has two projects he would like to submit for that fund. They are new seating and carpet in Leon Johnson 339 & EPS 103. The combination of projects is $321,000. The process for the Academic R&R fund will be discussed at the next meeting.

Klinos requested that emails for proxies have her copied on them so they are on the record.

This meeting was adjourned at 4:13 p.m.
