

Dr. Colden Baxter

Department of Biological Sciences,
Center for Ecological Research & Education
Idaho State University

Discontinuity, Asynchrony and Diversity in River-Riparian Food Webs

Presentation on October 11, 3:30-4:30
Lewis Hall 304

Colden Baxter is a Professor of Biological Sciences at Idaho State University. He grew up ranching, principally in northwest Montana, and received training in biology and geology (BA, Univ. Oregon), ecology (MSc, Univ. Montana), fisheries science and philosophy of science (Ph.D., Oregon State Univ.), and food web studies (postdoctoral fellowship, Colorado State Univ. & Hokkaido Univ., Japan). He leads the ISU Stream Ecology Center, directs the ISU Center for Ecological Research and Education (CERE), is director of ISU's graduate programs in biology, and recently served as president of the Society for Freshwater Science.