

Friday, January 26, 2018

4:10 – 5:00 PM

Barnard Hall (EPS) 103

Hawking's Premature Obituary for Philosophy

Professor Prasanta S. Bandyopadhyay

Department of History & Philosophy

Montana State University

<http://www.prasantasbandyopadhyay.com/default.html>

<http://www.prasantasbandyopadhyay.com/Publications/publications.htm>

Abstract:

One common refrain in Hawking's writings is that philosophy is dead. I will evaluate his actual and possible arguments for this claim and conclude that none of them is tenable. This popular talk will emphasize the need for incorporating additional critical reasoning training into current curriculum.

Host:

Yves Idzerda and Rufus Cone

 Refreshments served in the Barnard (EPS) second floor atrium at 3:45 **