

YOUTH WRITING CAMP

Multi-day writing workshops for youth in grades 5-8 and 9-12

JULY 12-16, 2021, 9am-3pm

Participants will be placed in writing groups based on age and grade level.

Camps will run simultaneously on the MSU-Bozeman campus.

The writing camp program includes:

- Walking field trips
- Writing games
- Specialized workshops from local writers

Campers share writing throughout the writing process within a supportive community of peers and receive guidance and feedback from licensed educators from the Yellowstone Writing Project.

Campers write in multiple genres, including:

- Graphic novels
- Screenwriting
- Fantasy
- Non-fiction and more

About YWP: Based in the Department of English at Montana State University, the Yellowstone Writing Project is comprised of teachers who write and writers who teach. YWP offers immersive professional development experiences for teachers, youth camps, conferences, speakers and more.

Parent Feedback:

Safety: “Students were escorted and with leaders at all times.”

Inclusion: “All students were appreciated regardless of output of writing.”

Quality, learning-based activities:

“My child learned a great deal about writing, the process and language in general.”

Professionalism tempered with fun:

“Teachers/leaders are knowledgeable and experienced, working positively with children.”

Early Bird price through May 28
Early Bird Cost: Commuter $250
Regular Cost: Commuter $275
Grades: 5-12 (in Fall 2021)
Registration: Opens Tuesday, March 2
Writing Showcase: TBD
Camp is limited to 50 participants

For more information:

Academic Technology & Outreach
Montana State University
ato.montana.edu/YWP
406-994-6550
continuinged@montana.edu

Yellowstone
Writing Project

MONTANA
STATE UNIVERSITY