
Integrating Service Learning into Curriculum and Courses

Service learning is a teaching method that combines service to the community with classroom curriculum. More than merely community service, it is a hands-on approach to mastering subject material while fostering civic responsibility.

Join us for an interactive discussion as professors and students share their experiences about initiating and participating in service learning as part of their courses.

This opportunity will provide the framework to begin the integration of service learning as a component of your course as well as impart an understanding of the benefits of service learning for students.

Panel Guests:

- Leah Schmalzbauer, Associate Professor, Dept. of Sociology & Anthropology will speak with Lynae Tripp, Senior, Global & Multicultural Studies
- Ada Giusti, Associate Professor, Dept. of Modern Languages & Literatures will speak with Heather Lee, Senior, Paleontology
- Marvin Lansverk, Professor, Dept. of English
Student panelist TBD

Moderated by Kaylee Ranck, Admissions Coordinator, The Graduate School

*This workshop is worth
1 unit toward the Certificate of Teaching Enhancement.

Click here for more information.

Thursday, March 31, 2011

SUB Room 233

Lunch Served: 12:15 p.m.

Presentation: 12:30-1:30 p.m.

Please RSVP to annea@montana.edu
by Tuesday, March 29, 2011