

THE SCHOLARS' CORNER BULLETIN ~ February 9, 2017

Dear Fellow Graduate Students,

Regardless of what department you are from, as graduate students we all have one thing in common; we want to communicate our research to the outside world and we want to do this efficiently so that it "sells". Whether you are preparing for a conference presentation, a post-doc interview, or a business interview, the upcoming BUSINESS COMMUNICATION INSIGHTS WORKSHOP IS FOR YOU!

Come join us for a brown bag lunch as Dr. Nick Hether, an MSU alumnus who has been a biochemist, an immunologist, a clinical chemist, and a Director of Product Safety at the Gerber Products Company, shares his experience and provides tips about how to present your research (and the skill set you've obtained by doing that research) most efficiently so that it sells!

The event takes place on Monday, February 13 from Noon to 1:00 pm in SUB Ballroom D. (RSVPs are appreciated and you can click here to register.)

We look forward to seeing you there.

Sincerely,

Arianna I. Celis
